

TEAM PROJECT PROFILE

VOLUNTEERING WITH RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE CHARITIES RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE NEAR LOYOLA UNIVERSITY MEDICAL CENTER

During the month of February, our team had the opportunity to participate in Ronald McDonald House Charities' (RMHC) Cookies from the Heart program. The RMHC program website states it the best: "Nothing beats the smell of homemade cookies baking in the oven to remind you of home". So in an effort to support families residing at the House during a trying time, we spent an afternoon preparing cookies from scratch in the House's chef-style kitchen. Therefore, upon return from the hospital, the families would be welcomed with not just the smell of homemade cookies, but freshly-baked goodies to enjoy. Our hope is that this small act allowed the families to feel comforted and at home, minimizing the stress of day-to-day life while enjoying a treat.

We are beyond grateful to have participated in this experience as a team and would like to thank RMHC for welcoming us into the home of their residents. We hope to continue growing our relationship with RMHC and making an impact within their organization in the future.
